

RTC (Real Time Clock):

The RTC time form is equal to the time form of the stopwatch because the RTC is designed to have a high accuracy as possible.

Normal delay:

The normal delay time form is not equal to the time form of the stopwatch approximately about 1 to 2 second because it is not design to have high accuracy (it is functional for this exercise but not accuracy as RTC).